A LETTER FROM OUR PRESIDENT

A friend of mine recently said to me “I was a Kappa Sig at Alabama.” When we were initiated into Phi Kappa Psi, we agreed that membership is for life – not just for four years of college. That understanding can manifest itself in many ways. The simplest expression of membership for life is to say “I am a Phi Psi from our chapter at Alabama.”

Other demonstrations of membership for life include serving as a chapter advisor, serving on a house corporation, participating in an alumni association, and serving as a national officer – either appointed or elected – or on a national committee.

But, the opportunities for most of us to serve in any of those capacities are limited by time, distance, or lack of other alumni where we live. So how else can we apply membership for life?

One of the best examples is our mentoring initiative begun under past President Paul Wineman Washington '55. The mentoring initiative offers opportunities for many times more alumni to serve and be served.

Phi Psi mentoring has two major goals:

- To provide undergraduate members with support, guidance, and the resources to thrive
- To provide alumni with a meaningful way to serve others while growing personally and professionally

Mentoring is characterized by one-on-one relationships ranging from older students helping younger students to successful business men helping new entrepreneurs. The mentoring relationship, as envisioned by Phi Kappa Psi, is a partnership between the mentor and the mentee/protégé in which each partner carries his share of the load. It is not over-prescribed, but remains flexible so that each relationship can develop along its own lines.

The subject of a mentoring partnership can be career/professional oriented, or can focus on relationship skills, problem solving, critical thinking, or self awareness – all depending on the needs of the partners.

I believe that the mentoring initiative is crucial to the future of our Fraternity. I am so committed to this effort that I am requiring each new colony to have an established mentoring program before it can be chartered.

As you think about the ways in which you would like to incorporate membership for life into your life, I urge you to consider becoming a mentor to an undergraduate. You won't regret it.

SERVICE IN ACTION

“HOW WONDERFUL IT IS THAT NOBODY NEED WAIT A SINGLE MOMENT BEFORE STARTING TO IMPROVE THE WORLD.”

— Anne Frank

Spring was an opportunity for Phi Kappa Psi to dedicate our efforts to our national partnership with the Boys & Girls Clubs of America. Our National Day of Service has been an annual tradition, where chapters and alumni associations come together to help noble causes in their area. In 2011, National Day of Service was Saturday, April 16.

While the Boys & Girls Clubs were the primary beneficiary, thanks to nearly 50 of our chapters being philanthropically aligned with their local club, the National Day of Service benefitted many worthy causes.

Our chapter at the University of Tennessee spent their day at the local Boys & Girls Club, playing pool, basketball and jumping rope with local children. In Binghamton, the men of New York Iota partnered with a sorority to help take their local club kids to a skating party. On Florida's west coast, the South Florida Gulf Coast Alumni Association donated earth boxes to their local Boys & Girls Club, as part of a larger initiative at the club to teach kids how to garden and grow food. And, in Rochester, the men of RIT hosted their Winter Banquet, raising a sizeable donation to help with their local Boys & Girls Club, where they actively participate in reading programs with the kids. The involvement of our members has not gone unnoticed.

“Your collective investment of time, labor of love, enthusiasm and personal connection with our young readers will long be remembered!" wrote the directors of the Boys & Girls Club of Rochester. "To all, we extend our appreciation for your commitment to the youth of our community. You are all greatly appreciated!"

Taking it a step further in 2011, our national community service committee wanted to find more ways to make a difference in the lives of America's youth. They coordinated a National Service Week, featuring an online campaign geared towards raising money nationally for the Boys & Girls Clubs of America. Chapters and associations were encouraged to host fundraising events and donate all profits through the Phi Kappa Psi – Boys & Girls Clubs of America web portal (linked from www.phikappapsi.com). In Syracuse, the men of New York Beta hosted an on-campus competition called GUTS to raise money, while the men of Alabama hosted a carnival for their local club, which also served as a fundraiser for others in attendance. And, in Ames, our men from Iowa State hosted the Phi Psi Sliders event, flipping burgers to raise money for their local club.

While all events showed our dedication to service, it was that partnership in Tuscaloosa that took on an even more important meaning after April 27, 2011. When the EF-4 tornado ripped through the heart of Tuscaloosa, the country was captivated by the destruction and immediate outpouring of support. The University of Alabama never finished the semester, opting instead to send students home for safety, especially in the wake of the loss of hundreds of lives. But many within the Greek community stayed to help clean up. The use of social media and the networking of the Greek system brought new meaning to the idea of making a difference. Items were collected, demolitions were coordinated and lives were either saved or improved by the efforts of our men and their peers in fraternities and sororities on campus.

Lost, however, was much of the Boys & Girls Club of West Alabama. The men from Alabama Alpha are dedicated to helping the club and seeing it rebuilt to be a strong center for the local youth. Currently, our national efforts are to direct any donations from the spring to the rebuilding efforts and put a priority on bringing new donations through the national web portal and directly to the efforts of Alabama Alpha to help rebuild. For more information, visit our website.

My name is James Jaen Perez Oneonta '07. After graduating from college I underwent the rigorous application process to join the United States Peace Corps. Peace Corps is a U.S. Government organization that focuses on developing countries and providing them with assistance via Peace Corps volunteers. I was stationed in a medium sized village of 5,000 people in Mali, with no running water, no electricity, and 12.5 miles from a paved road. Mali has been rated as low as the third poorest country in the world and is in need of our grass roots help.

I lived in my own house near my host family's house. I spoke a West African dialect called Bambara. My time there had many ups and downs, but in the true spirit of "the great joy in serving others," I had to put my own personal gains on the back burner while I tried to make an impact on someone's life every day. I was a Water and Sanitation Extension Agent, meaning that I assist the community with creating easier access to potable water as well as helping with the major sanitation issues here.

Even with the hurdles to overcome, every day was truly an adventure. I don't think that I would have joined Peace Corps if it wasn't for the ideals that I was raised on by my parents or the ideals that I was raised on by the older brothers of New York Kappa. I owe a lot of my character to the tools and life lessons provided to me by Phi Kappa Psi and the brothers that call her home. Phi Kappa Psi taught me patience, problem solving, negotiating, and how to bring out the best in people, all tools that I use on a daily basis here.

In Mali, the idea of an extended family is very prominent. I know in Mali I was accepted into my family, but I know that no matter where I am, I have the Phi Psi extended family always there for me.

THE 2011 WOODROW WILSON LEADERSHIP BY DESIGN

The 2011 Woodrow Wilson Leadership School (WWLS) and District Council Meetings convened in Columbus, Ohio from June 22-25 on the campus of the Ohio State University. The beautiful, state-of-the-art student union played host to almost every session and four intense days of keynote addresses, small-group learning and plenty of brotherhood building. Funded largely through a generous grant from the Phi Kappa Psi Foundation, WWLS aims to teach our members leadership skills, conflict resolution tactics, living with integrity, history and how to be a gentleman.

"You grow, not only as a chapter leader, but as a person," said Brandon Deckard Edinboro '09. "Everything you learn here you can take and apply to life, now and forever."

LEADERSHIP SCHOOL –

The highlight, keynote speeches for the week were delivered by “Mom” Nonnie Cameron Owens and Rev. Dr. David McDonald Beloit '82, the Fraternity’s Mystagogue. Owens delivered her famous lecture on etiquette and challenged the men to be the gentlemen they know they can be.

“It was a rarity to listen to a person who can teach that level of etiquette,” one student responded. “It was nice to know the proper way to use manners and etiquette.”

Brother McDonald took the challenges a step further in his remarks to the audience, urging them to be bold and take risks when it came to being a leader. Recognizing that leaders often have to make the toughest decisions, he said ‘if you are afraid of failure, you are afraid of life.’

He closed his second keynote by walking all 200+ in attendance through a mock meeting, educating all on the proper execution of Roberts Rules of Order and how to get the most out of a group.

A large part of the curriculum, there were over 25 various breakout sessions throughout the week that participants could take part in. Here, undergraduates learn everything there is to know about the National Fraternity from an enthusiastic Executive Director Shawn Collinsworth Indiana State '91.

Always time to relax, brothers give each other a quick back rub to keep the energy up during a marathon day.

“My favorite thing from WWLS was getting to meet brothers from around the country and exchanging ideas,” remarked Cullen McDonald Beloit '11.

CHAPTER UPDATE

For the second straight WWLS, there was a separate track for alumni representing associations from around the country. Operating on a shorter schedule to accommodate those unable to leave their jobs, the sessions kicked off on Friday morning of the week, with an address from national President Tryon Hubbard Alabama '64. Sessions dealt with event planning, tracking association history, best practices and more.

A great benefit to the week for many was the interaction between alumni and undergraduates. The opportunity to learn from their experiences and gain valuable lessons and support moving forward is an intention side benefit to a week's worth of programming.

It was hard not to embrace the Buckeye love during the week!

With the Special Olympics of Ohio competition also on Ohio State's campus during the week of WWLS, it was only fitting that Phi Kappa Psi members showed their love for service by joining forces with a tremendous event. From assisting with some competitions to directing guests to the opening ceremonies, there was plenty to do. Nearly 100 brothers put a smile on their face and helped serve over 3,000 meals to Special Olympics participants on the first night of dinner.

In conjunction with all of the educational programming, all six districts of the Fraternity met during the week to elect their new undergraduate representative on the Executive Council moving forward. All six Archons will now serve a two-year term on the board as Phi Kappa Psi continues its unique structure of undergraduate control. In this picture, they are standing in district order (1 through 6) from left to right: Adam Goodman Rowan '08, Carl Sceusa GW '08, Jeff Miskovich Purdue '09, Matt Evans Kentucky '09, Michael Kirschbaum Creighton '11 and Tim Suwandhaputra UC Riverside '09

GRAND CHAPTER

Ohio Mu (University of Dayton)

The final banquet recognized the hard work of all participants throughout the week, but also presented dozens of awards to our chapters. The biggest of them all is the Grand Chapter Award, given to the strongest Phi Kappa Psi chapter over the past school year. For the second time, Ohio Mu from the University of Dayton captured the honor.

"It wasn't always easy but we did a lot of great things this past year," said Keith Conti Dayton '09, chapter president. "I couldn't be more proud of my brothers to do such a great job worthy of this honor."

Other awards included the accreditation status for each chapter (listed later in this issue with chapter newsletters) and academic awards, which can be found online.

BEYOND

Upon taking the oath and pledging one's life to the ideals and values of Phi Kappa Psi, he accepts a journey in life guided by selflessness, loyalty, honor, service and brotherhood. But it is that last characteristic that gets the most attention. It was covered in the winter issue of The Shield (page 18) and might be the most actively debated definition in Phi Psi. No matter what your definition of brotherhood may be, there is no denying that the opportunity to leverage your membership into something greater exists.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

For the Talbott family, attending the University of West Virginia isn't the only family tradition. Being a member of Phi Kappa Psi also is a rite of passage for the men of the family. Starting in 1924 with the initiation of Richard H. Talbott Sr., and continuing this past January with the initiation of Christopher S. Talbott, four generations of Talbott men have now become Phi Psis in Morgantown, West Virginia.

For all of them, it is more than just what Phi Kappa Psi offers them, it's about upholding a tradition within the family and linking the past with the present. To be a Phi Psi in the Talbott family is to have successfully taken the torch and moved forward with the promise of reaching success in life. For the Talbotts, Phi Psi is in their blood!

"It's obviously a very special occasion in our family and something we're very proud of to have such a strong Phi Psi legacy," said Stephen B. Talbott West Virginia '79.

Of course, the Talbotts are not alone. Their chapter at West Virginia is home to the fourth generation of Phi Kappa Psi founder William Henry Letterman's lineage. Other chapters, and the Fraternity at large, enjoy long family trees of legacies, including the Emison family of Indiana Alpha (DePauw), with five generations and nearly 20 initiates.

WEATHERING THE STORM

The bonds of family may be tighter than those of brotherhood, but who is to say that the nepotism a father can give a son couldn't translate to the connection that Phi Kappa Psi provides? Since the early days of this Fraternity, the networking and familiarity that membership provides has been leveraged by individuals to advance careers, or simply get a foot in the door.

This benefit beyond brotherhood has an increased level of importance today. With the lagging economy costing many members their jobs, the bonds of brotherhood have been called upon more than ever to try and land brothers back on their feet. The increased opportunities online through networking sites like LinkedIn have extended the reach of individuals seeking out members that would be willing to help.

"I joined LinkedIn and the Phi Psi group there and was approached by a brother looking to help," said Adam Larkin Missouri '00, an advertising salesman recently downsized. "I can tell you that that friendship has been a large boost in just something as simple as spirit, and if anyone has ever felt kicked while down, spirit means a lot."

Steve Talbott with his son, Chris, after he became the fourth Talbott man to join Phi Kappa Psi at West Virginia

BROTHERHOOD

WHILE JOINING PHI KAPPA PSI IS A PRIVILEGE FOR OVER 115,000 INITIATES, IT IS THOSE WHO HAVE LEVERAGED THAT MEMBERSHIP TO SOMETHING GREATER THAT BENEFIT THE MOST.

ULTIMATE LOYALTY

Like Brother Larkin, Gordon Carter Alabama '75 experienced the support beyond brotherhood when he lost his job as the in-house attorney for a major insurance company. But, as the chapter advisor to our Alabama Beta Chapter at Auburn University, it wasn't the support the group of men provided in that moment that was so important. It went much deeper than that.

In the process of reviving his career about two years ago, Brother Carter unknowingly was living with diabetes and slipped into a week-long diabetic coma. When he awoke, he got a tremendous surprise.

"[All the men from Alabama Beta] came to see me when I got out of ICU in the hospital," Carter said. "I found out they offered to give blood or do whatever they could when I was in my coma."

The man from Alabama, advising a chapter at Auburn, and the concept of brotherhood taken to another level. The chapter would later nominate him for the school's Advisor of the Year award, which he won.

These are just three, tiny, individual stories about how Phi Kappa Psi has gone beyond a social fraternity to impact the lives of its members. These brothers represent what so many others have experienced. If each man were to be initiated and live his life by the ideals of the founders, the lessons of "The Creed" and the guidance of the Ritual, the world is a better place. But, to go beyond the general concept of brotherhood, and be true 'generous, compassionate and loyal comrades' is to be a true member of Phi Kappa Psi.... ■

BROTHERS HELPING BROTHERS: THE NATIONAL MENTORING INITIATIVE

By Rob Parada RIT '92

There is a well-known anecdote about a man who falls into a deep hole. His friend happens along and, upon seeing his companion's predicament, jumps into the hole to join him. Stunned, the trapped man asks his friend why he would do such a thing because now they are both stuck. His friend calmly replies that he has been in the same hole before and knows the way out.

Many of us have been fortunate to have at least one person who has taken a direct interest in our life and personal dreams, and know first-hand the benefits that this guidance provides. This person may be a parent, a teacher, or a trusted friend. They serve the role of cheerleader, critic, and life coach all in one. Having the support of this counselor eases the load of the difficulties we face in life, and helps to identify constructive solutions. Fraternity life itself includes examples of this mentor-mentee relationship. Consider the help your Big Brother gave to you in understanding the responsibilities and benefits of chapter life. Perhaps the alumni and faculty members serving as advisors to your chapter have had an influence on you. Brothers who attend the American Leadership Academy may form relationships with the alumni and speakers who volunteered their time to provide the programming.

College men today must overcome many challenges. Underclassmen must prepare for their careers while simultaneously finding their social bearings. Seniors are faced with a daunting economic climate as they seek out their first professional positions. Brothers who have navigated these waters before can have a real, direct impact on the lives of these brothers at a critical time in their lives. This is the inspiration behind the national mentoring initiative for our Fraternity.

The goal of the Phi Kappa Psi mentoring initiative is to establish a culture of strong alumni-undergraduate interaction for the Fraternity. Mentoring in its most basic form exists whenever and wherever Phi Kappa Psi alumni provide guidance to their undergraduate brothers on issues they will face in life.

LOCAL MENTORING PROGRAMS

The National Fraternity is endorsing the formation of chapter-specific mentoring programs to increase alumni-undergraduate interactions. Local mentoring programs offer a level of engagement and member development designed to be a beneficial experience for both alumni and undergraduate participants. In addition to providing a positive mentoring experience to undergraduates, the program reinforces the conviction that our fraternal brotherhood, and its ideals, continue to impact us throughout our lives. As the first paragraph of "The Phi Kappa Psi Creed" reads: "I believe that Phi Kappa Psi is a brotherhood of honorable men, courteous and cultured, who pledge throughout their lives to be generous, compassionate and loyal comrades...."

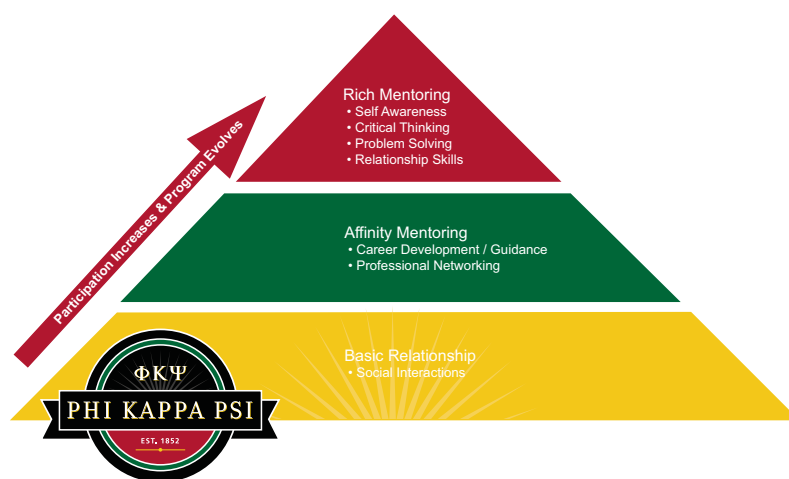

Participants are given the freedom to tailor the goals of their local program. Some programs may focus more on career path development and preparation; other programs may focus more on personal growth and maturity issues. Program leaders are encouraged to actively engage their participants in setting mentoring goals and providing programming to address these needs.

"My mentee and I worked on steps to attract the attention of the hiring manager and to be distinctive as a candidate. I could see his confidence grow as we worked on each step and I believe he was learning and internalizing some of the ideas, concepts, and techniques. He is a great brother and I hope that our relationship can continue at some level that would be satisfying to him."

– Fred Hegele
Ohio State '64, Mentor

Phi Psi chapters can position themselves for mentoring programs by inviting area alumni to mixer events and community service projects. These social interactions allow alumni and undergraduates to become better acquainted, leading to opportunities to share career guidance and other advice. As the interactions grow, the richness of these interactions will deepen further.

THE VALUE OF MENTORING

Involvement in mentoring programs benefits both undergraduates and alumni. Undergraduates are provided with the support, guidance and resources they need to thrive in a complex world. Alumni are provided a meaningful and valuable way to serve others while also continually growing on a personal and professional level.

Mentee/Undergraduate Benefits

- Access to Phi Psi alumni to begin building a professional network to help find internships and jobs
- Coaching on job acquisition skills like resume writing, interviewing, etc.
- Advice about academics: majors, classes to take, specialization, graduate schools, etc.
- Confidential counseling on other school, career, and personal issues

Mentor/Alumnus Benefits

- Opportunity to network with fellow Phi Psi alumni
- Recruiting opportunity for interns and entry-level talent
- Opportunity to keep engaged with undergraduates and the local chapter

Considered one of the foremost champions for the national mentoring initiative, past SWGP Paul Wineman (Washington '55) has been a personal mentor to many undergraduate and alumni brothers during his many years of service to the Fraternity

Brothers,

For the past 10 years, even before becoming an elected officer of our Fraternity, I've annually been involved in supporting the American Leadership Academy program. Starting at about the same time, brother Jerry Nelson UCLA '48 and I made numerous chapter visits around the country together presenting his "Winners & Losers" program and my "Negotiating to be a Winner" presentation. These opportunities gave us the chance to sit and talk, sometimes for long periods of time, with our undergraduate brothers, either alone or in various-sized groups. On these occasions, I began to realize how much a fully organized mentoring program was needed for Phi Kappa Psi.

A portion of our brothers today come from one-parent or dysfunctional families, and don't have the ability to speak with an older male role model about matters of serious, and often confidential, concern to them. Mentors give this outlet to our younger Phi Psis, many of whom will jump at the opportunity to have private time with an alumnus, obtaining their counsel on issues about which they do not know where else to turn for answers. To strengthen my point, I include here a few of the notes of gratitude I have personally received over the years from different undergraduates for being there at a time when it made a difference to them.

"I want to take this moment to thank you, brother, for single-handedly changing my life. From the talks we had it was not only the life experiences and introspection that you have instilled in me; it was the belief in my character and in my aspiration as a man that you communicated to me allowing me to believe in myself. Your sense of confidence in me gave me the seed of confidence to place in myself, and your counsel and guidance gave me the means to nurture and grow a small seed into a blooming source of power and drive."

"The experiences we have shared together have been some of the best times of my young life. However, these experiences alone are not what makes a Phi Psi bond. Rather, this truly genuine bond, and one that I hold dearly, is the direct result from your sustained guidance, inspiration, and support. You embody what Phi Psi is to me, and I hope that one day I'll be able to return the favor and affect the next generation of leaders in our country."

"I'd like to thank you for simply talking to me. I learned a lot and you made me feel very comfortable. I've already incorporated in my life lessons that I learned from you."

As older Phi Psis with successful careers, what more important role could we possibly play than to counsel and advise our younger brothers, just now starting out into a very competitive world, on how to be successful with ethics, integrity, morality, and honesty? That, brothers, is the backbone of Phi Kappa Psi's mentoring program.

— Paul Wineman Washington '55

"I have begun to build my relationship with my mentor and found it both worthwhile and promising. When I asked how he managed to have enough time to participate in the program, he responded, 'If you believe in something, you make time.' A very successful individual, I have found his thoughts and perspective engaging, insightful, and look forward to building a lifelong relationship."

— Jeremiah Totten-Greenwood Lafayette '09, Mentee

"I have found that participation in the mentoring program is a great way to stay connected with the active members of the house, as well as an opportunity to help a brother develop his education and future career through a one-on-one relationship. It was clear that my mentee valued our relationship and the opportunity to better understand how to prepare to exit college and begin his professional career. This experience has been very rewarding and I hope other chapters around the country develop similar programs."

– Nathan Fong Minnesota '01, Mentor

CURRENT MENTORING PROGRAMS

With financial support from the Phi Kappa Psi Foundation, an inaugural mentoring program was developed by the Minnesota Beta (Minnesota) chapter during the 2008-2010 biennium. These brothers did an excellent job creating a model that other brothers could build upon and tailor for use by their own chapters.

During the 2010-2011 academic year, a total of six chapters ran local mentoring programs: Southern Cal, Indiana, Minnesota, Penn, Penn State and Houston Baptist. Ten more chapters plan to start their programs in the coming academic year: UC-Irvine, George Washington, Illinois, Creighton, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio State, Case Western, Dayton, Lafayette and York. These local programs are leading the way to a future in which Phi Kappa Psi alumni forge strong bonds with undergraduates to prepare them for the many challenges of life. The examples below illustrate some of the approaches used and challenges faced by these programs.

Indiana Beta (Indiana)

Indiana Beta based its first-year program on the one-on-one mentoring model pioneered by the Minn. Beta chapter. An impressive total of 26 alumni-undergraduate pairs actively participated. Guest-speaker nights were incorporated in conjunction with dinner at the chapter house for the program participants, with topics being selected by the undergraduate participants. This pilot has laid a good foundation on which to improve the program, so that it will have a lasting presence at Ind. Beta. Based on feedback from the first year, the program leaders plan to introduce team-based mentoring in fall 2011, in which affinity groups are created around the career/industry interests of the program participants. Such group interactions will allow undergraduates to benefit from the guidance and perspectives of multiple alumni, and will provide the alumni participants with additional opportunities to strengthen their professional networks through interaction with other alumni in their professional field. It is believed this change will increase alumni participation, foster high-quality engagement and to provide experiential learning opportunities.

Pennsylvania Theta (Lafayette)

The work of the Penn. Theta chapter is an excellent example of how a small, committed team of alumni and undergraduates can rapidly plan and start a local mentoring program. After consulting with the national mentoring committee in early 2011, the program leaders developed a series of expectations and guidelines to pair undergraduates with alumni mentors. They explored the use of technology to benefit their program, using Google Analytics as part of polling undergraduate participants about their mentoring interests, and using video conferencing to allow SWGP Tryon Hubbard Alabama '64 to participate as the guest speaker for a kickoff event held in late April. The lessons learned about effective application of technology may benefit other chapters who need to engage alumni located far away from their chapter. Fuller programming at Penn. Theta will begin in fall 2011.

Guest speaker SWGP Hubbard speaks via video conferencing at the Pennsylvania Theta mentoring program kick-off event.

Chicago Alumni Association / Illinois Delta (Illinois)

Chicago alumni are partnering with the Illinois Delta Chapter on a new networking initiative to strengthen undergraduate-alumni relations, increase alumni association membership, and guide graduating seniors through their transition into the professional world. Still in the planning stages, this collaboration may identify techniques that other alumni associations can use to engage chapters in their area in mentoring programming.

District of Columbia Alpha (GW)

Our chapter at George Washington is a good example of a chapter seeking to establish a mentoring program while being challenged by the absence of alumni to serve as mentors. The alumni base around Washington, D.C. is fairly transient; many alumni either work for short periods of time in the federal government or are in the area attending graduate school. Four alumni are currently involved in chapter support, and these brothers are constantly balancing the competing demands of family, career, and volunteer work. These leaders are committed to using the mentoring initiative both as a tool to help develop future leaders and as a vehicle to build their active alumni base. Mentoring workshops have been used in the past with great success, educating undergraduates and attracting successful area alumni to lecture on specific topics.

"Getting involved in my mentor program was not something I thought I would get involved with at first. One of the local alumni really helped me out. At the moment, the local program is still young, but I plan for it to keep growing and maturing. The Mentor Program at Phi Kappa Psi really separates us from all the other fraternities. It's a program we have that a lot of other groups and fraternities do not, and we have to take advantage of that."

– Ryan Simon

Penn State '10, Mentee

Building on these experiences, these alumni leaders are now planning to start more "hands on" mentoring interactions this fall, as the undergraduates move into their new chapter house on Greek row. A possible partnership with our chapter at Maryland will also be explored, to pool the availability of regional alumni.

GETTING INVOLVED

Phi Psi brothers everywhere are encouraged to consider participation in mentoring programming. This programming is viewed by the national leadership as being of central importance to the strength of our Fraternity.

In the feedback received from local mentoring program leaders and participants, two key themes have emerged:

- These programs provide a real, positive impact; and
- There is a strong, heartfelt desire to have additional alumni become involved as mentors.

If you are an alumnus with the time and interest to serve as a mentor to another brother, please reach out to the chapter in your area to see if they have a program in which you can participate – or help to start. The time commitment is small, and the potential impact is very significant.

For more information about joining or starting a mentoring program in your area, please view the information available at www.phikappapsi.com/Today/Mentoring. ■

CHAPTER NEWSLETTERS

Another school year is behind us and offers the opportunity for our chapters to reflect on where they've come from and where they plan on going moving forward in the fall. Being an odd year and host of our Woodrow Wilson Leadership School (WWLS), it also means that we have the opportunity to gauge the strength and weaknesses of our 101 chapters throughout the country.

The Phi Kappa Psi Chapter Excellence Program is in place to measure our chapters in 11 key areas of operation. It is meant to measure groups based on the standards of acceptable chapter behavior. Also known as Accreditation, this application serves a number of purposes:

- It provides a working base of information from which the National Headquarters Staff can tailor education for chapters each year
- It is the application for awards, including Grand Chapter, presented at the recently completed WWLS. Grand Chapters must be Accredited with Distinction (passing all 11 categories) to be eligible. Our Ohio Mu Chapter at the University of Dayton is the 2011 Grand Chapter.
- It allows our chapters an opportunity to self-evaluate

This year, 79 chapters submitted an application (this is an optional program), which is a record total in the history of the program in both numbers and percentage of total groups. From there, each application was carefully reviewed and levels of achievement assigned. Of the 79 chapters submitting, 47 were given a mark of Accredited or higher. This number is down from past years, which is a bit concerning, but also reflects a tighter set of judging criteria as we strive to improve our chapters.

ALABAMA ALPHA - ALABAMA

Point of Contact: Conner Barnes (cbbarnes2@crimson.ua.edu)

Chapter Update: Understandably, a report for our Alabama Alpha chapter was not submitted as the deadline for submission came just days after deadly tornadoes ripped through Tuscaloosa.

Thankfully, no brothers or the property were lost in the tragedy. Brothers teamed with other members of the Greek community to help the local efforts. The university was closed and finals cancelled for the spring semester. Efforts will continue throughout the summer to put the city back together. Those interested in helping the chapter in its efforts to rebuild Tuscaloosa, including their local Boys & Girls Club, please contact the National Office.

Chapter Update: This past year, Alabama Beta won numerous Auburn University awards, including the small fraternity awards for philanthropy, campus involvement, scholarship, and risk management, as well as the small fraternity cup. In total, Alabama Beta captured five of the six possible awards for small fraternities. Having established a strong relationship with the alumni from our original founding, we are now working on building a strong relationship with our younger alumni base. For the past several months, we have been working extensively on our summer rush program, with the goal of getting the largest pledge class in the history of our chapter since it's re-chartering. We are continuing to improve our current chapter house, and have begun putting a portion of our funds towards obtaining permanent housing.

Chapter Update: The Arizona Alpha Chapter enjoyed a very successful and eventful spring semester. We put on a new philanthropy event called Phi Psi's Beach Bash. For the event, we brought in various musical artists from around the country, most notably Chicago based rapper Na Palm, to perform for the benefit of The Keep a Breast Foundation. In addition, the brotherhood has continued to gain recognition at the University of Arizona. This fall, we look forward to having another strong rush. We have created a $500 book scholarship which we will be advertising during freshman orientation to encourage new students to consider our brotherhood. We will then be awarding the scholarship to the individual that we feel needs it the most and can greatly contribute to the future academic benefit of our chapter. We are also beginning an Alumni Hall of Honor. If you feel you know an alumnus deserving of such recognition, please send any and all nominations to our chapter president. As we move forth into the fall semester, our chapter is expecting to have a great Homecoming and we strongly encourage any and all alumni to attend!

Charity wise, our house held the first ever Greek-wide blood drive. We also continued our "Hands On" philanthropy, whose proceeds support breast cancer research. In addition, California Delta is proud to have initiated 16 new members this spring who have pledged to work relentlessly towards being gentleman and continuing to improve our surrounding community. As we head into the summer, we would like to wish everyone a good break and best of luck on recruitment in the fall.

CALIFORNIA EPSILON - UCLA

After submitting their chapter newsletter and completing the school year, our chapter at UCLA had its charter suspended by the Executive Council on June 22. This was done after considerable conversation with the administration of UCLA. The chapter's repeated risk management violations, lack of urgency in improving and eventual inability to work with the National Staff to fix their problems prompted the charter suspension. At this time, there is not a set timetable for returning to the campus and recolonizing. However, with an active campaign in the works to build a new, state-of-the-art chapter house for California Epsilon, Phi Kappa Psi will be doing everything in its power to return to the campus soon.

Thirty alumni attended our alumni weekend we hosted in April. The quarter yielded many house renovations including a fresh coat of paint. Brothers worked with Habitat for Humanity to build a home for a low-income family, framing and painting the house. Our annual Sorority Soccer Cup raised $1,300 to benefit the Boys and Girls Clubs of America. We have also created a new, streamlined web site.

An ever present philanthropic force, we remained active with: a Newport beach cleanup; Phi Psi 500, where brothers volunteered 500+ hours for the OC Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization; and a Drunk Driving Awareness collaborative effort with M.A.D.D. and Irvine P.D., which featured an accident reenactment, catered food, and raffles. Calif. Nu is the largest it's been since our founding, putting us at the second-largest chapter on campus. We accomplished the Phi Psi 500 and raised thousands of dollars during National Service Week in support of various organizations including the Boys and Girls Club. This past year we have also made a large focus on not only building brotherhood within our chapter but with the chapters in the southern and northern California areas; through that we have visited the philanthropy and social events of most California chapters while the same goes for them visiting ours. Never in Calif. Nu history have we ever been so happy to say, 'Proud to be Phi Psi!!'

Chapter Update: The California Xi Chapter at Long Beach State had a very exciting spring semester. We were hard at work following the motto of "the great joy of serving others" by not only working with the Boys and Girls Club of San Pedro and the Port of Los Angeles, but by attending bi-weekly beach cleanups at our newly adopted beach in Seal Beach, CA. We have also been at work feeding the homeless at a soup kitchen in downtown Long Beach and working with the elderly at our co-sponsored event with "Senior Prom". One of the biggest accomplishments of the semester was getting first place, for the second year in a row, in our Greek Week competition. We helped raise over $20,000 for kids with HIV/AIDS at Camp Heartland. On top of that, we just had our one year anniversary from our chartering and all of us at Long Beach State are very proud to be Phi Psis!

In addition, our chapter, combined with the Chi Omega sorority, placed 2nd overall in Greek Week, which was a big accomplishment. As we transition into the next school year our chapter is making the proper preparations to continue our growth as a brotherhood.

Not only have our men of Phi Kappa Psi been working hard in the classroom, but we have continued our success in varsity sports, intramural sports, and competitive events on campus. Senior Cameron Huffman put on a dominant performance at Little 5 after finishing 3rd in the sprints and taking 1st place overall. Chapter Update: This year Michigan Alpha has grown to 123 members, initiating 34 new members throughout the year. Our Founders Day event was held on March 26th and was a great forum for active brothers and alumni to catch up. Building on that, the brothers of Michigan Alpha teamed up with alumni to create and launch a dynamic mentoring program. This past spring break, a group of brothers took the initiative to plan a philanthropic trip to San Pedro Sula, Honduras, the home town of Michigan Alpha GP, Alexandros Mitri. Over the week, the group worked at an orphanage (founded by Alexandros' mother) and a maternity ward. This year there has been an overwhelming call for more philanthropy from the chapter house, with events including Home for the Holidays, Treats for Troops, Quilts for Kids (donating blankets to Mott's Children's Hospital), Relay for Life (cancer research fundraiser) and Detroit Partnership Day (a day of community service in Detroit).

Chapter Update: Oklahoma Alpha is very happy to have completed its reorganization efforts and start our phase of regrowth. We have participated in the Delta Gamma Anchorman contest and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Boxing Tournament. We also created an instant hit with the philanthropic Mardi Gras Masquerade event that we co-hosted with Alpha Sigma Kappa sorority. We also had 100% attendance at the University of Oklahoma's annual day of service, the Big Event. Oklahoma Alpha is always actively seeking collaborative opportunities with other on-campus groups as well as with the other chapters of Phi Kappa Psi. Visits from our alumni and community involvement are always appreciated. We frequently utilize Informal Recruitment to further bolster our numbers by recruiting quality gentlemen of character outside of the Rush process.

Chapter Update: The Oregon Alpha Chapter thrived this spring. After winning four prestigious Greek awards, successfully recruiting the largest pledge class on campus and dominating intramural sports, we have established our chapter as one of the most esteemed fraternities on Oregon's campus. Our fraternity has recently adopted a new non-profit organization, the Nicholas Colby Fund, which supports children who are suffering from cancer. We had an amazing 350-person turnout to our second annual "Bring the Ruckus" benefit concert, which sold out two days before the venue, and generated nearly $2,500 for the Nicholas Colby fund. We were greatly fortunate to become acquainted with a large portion of our alumni this past Founders Day, and look forward to meeting many more during the years to come!

Academically, we placed eight brothers on the Dean's List, resulting in a fall house GPA of 3.15. This put our chapter atop the fraternal GPA standings. Many of W&J College's athletic teams, such as wrestling, lacrosse, soccer and hockey, all boast brothers on their rosters. Recently, we began a new initiative with the LeMoyne Center of Washington, Pennsylvania. Brothers have been volunteering their time to assist in after-school programs at the center. We also had brothers run for student body vice president and another for the board of governors this year. Although they lost, the chapter is still standing strong and proud as the oldest fraternity and second largest on campus, and also respected as a top-tier fraternity among its peers and university.

THE LOYALTY FUND HELP US CONTINUE TO PROVIDE A MEANINGFUL GREEK EXPERIENCE

While Phi Kappa Psi is incredibly fortunate to have an educational foundation that provides hundreds-of-thousands of dollars annually to fund several Fraternity programs, much of what we provide to our members, undergraduates and alumni alike, is not considered 100 percent educational. In fact, most of our programming and resources for alumni is not recognized as fundable with tax-deductible gifts. That's why we need you! The Loyalty Fund is here to allow our members to donate to the Fraternity 'from the heart,' and see projects come to life. Your gift could help us in a number of areas:

- Grand Arch Council Programming
- Digitally Archiving Every Issue of The Shield
- Increasing Alumni Volunteer Programming and Training

BROTHER'S LATEST BOOK COMPLETES A FICTIONAL TRILOGY

The fate of the Viking world hangs in the balance in this exhilarating final chapter of the epic RuneWarriors saga. The creation of authors James Jennewein and Tom S. Parker Cal State Northridge '68, the 2010 release of "RuneWarriors: Ship of the Dead" culminates years of work by Brother Parker and his co-author in writing the series, published by Harper Collins. Parker is a screenwriter and novelist, having also contributed his writing talents to the scripts of movies such as "The Flintstones" and "Richie Rich."

SUCCESSFUL PHI PSI SHARES LESSONS IN NEW BOOK

Joe Abraham UC Irvine '94 started his first company at the age of 23, and has since served as a founder, executive or advisor to a number of successful companies. He currently runs the BOSI Performance Institute. Through his extensive experience, he created the book "Entrepreneurial DNA," which promises to disrupt the traditional view of entrepreneurship by dispelling the myth that all entrepreneurs and all business owners are the same. Abraham's book is based on the proven tests and profiles of his company's work with entrepreneurs. Using the four identified characteristics of Builder, Opportunist, Specialist and Innovator, readers of the book learn how to build and optimize their business plan, marketing systems, company operations, HR strategy and personal life around their own, unique profile.

PHI PSI EXPLORES THE COUNTRY'S BIGGEST CAVES

Larry Matthews Vanderbilt '65 is an adventurer and loves to explore the vast world of underground beauty. His latest book, "Blue Spring Cave," is just another in a long line of detailed books that help the reader to discover every square inch of America's caves. Blue Spring Cave is Tennessee's longest mapped cave with over 35 miles of surveyed passages. Although its natural entrance has been known since prehistoric times, only 500 feet of cave had been explored as recently as 1989. Matthews' book follows each step of the explorers as they documented those passages, including maps of the discovery. Matthews, who has written numerous books on caves, began caving in high school and is still an avid caver today.

RELEASE OF NEW EP CONTINUES BROTHER'S SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL JOURNEY

After tweaking songs that have become local and regional favorites, JK Mabry Kentucky '96 released his new EP, "Familiar Stranger," in April of this year. The album, in recognition of the response the organic songs have gotten in shows around the country, was recorded completely live. Mabry credits the completion of the EP to the support of fans in his hometown of Louisville, Kentucky, who have allowed his band to grow their audience. With more songs due out later this summer, the album is available on iTunes and Amazon. Brother Mabry will be playing the Desert Nights Concert Series at The Standard Hotel in Los Angeles on August 31, 2011.

BROTHERS FROM RIDER REUNITE FOR SUCCESSFUL REUNION

The Brothers of New Jersey Alpha (Rider University) recently had a Phi Kappa Psi Reunion for graduates from 1962-1970, in conjunction with a Rider University reunion. Put together by founding father Bob Meinzer Rider '65, there was wine and cheese parties, golf outings, dinners and other events, all of which were well attended. Due to the success of this reunion, another one is being planned for next year in Florida, as many of the brothers are now retired and look forward to some fun in the sun during the winter months.

The chapter was closed in 1993 due to some severe hazing allegations and incidents, something that this group of men did not stand for. Despite the lack of an active chapter and some controversial endings, the strength of this group was noticeable during the recent reunion.

"I believe to have had such a successful reunion after some 40+ years after graduation was a tribute to the strong camaraderie that was formed during our brotherhood years at school and continues through today," said Bruce Theuerkauf Rider '65.

Sporting some red and green cords to show his Phi Psi pride, New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg (Johns Hopkins '61) was all smiles after his keynote speech during the George Washington University commencement.

Michael Cheney (Michigan '64) is the newest member of the Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART) board of directors. Cheney is a retired financial executive including stints with Price Waterhouse Coopers, CPAs and Lineage Holdings, and the Chief Financial Officer for Hackney Ladish Holding Corp., Prima US, and The Continuum Company.

PHI KAPPA PSI FOUNDATION TRUSTEE, JOHN BUCK, PASSES AWAY AT THE AGE OF 83

The Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity and Phi Kappa Psi Foundation lost a great brother, leader and friend when John Frederic Buck Indiana '75 passed away on the evening of Thursday, June 9, 2011. "Coach", as he was often referred to within the brotherhood, had been battling health issues over the last several years. These difficulties, despite his strong will and zeal for life, became more exacerbated recently and unfortunately led to his hospitalization and passing.

As a member of the Fraternity's leadership, Brother Buck's dedication to Phi Kappa Psi, the fraternal movement and also to academia is unmatched. As a career professor and lifelong learner, Brother Buck was a great influence on many within the Fraternity. His inquisitive nature and constant quest for good conversation motivated him to be up-to-date on the latest technology, which helped him, even in his 83rd year, to remain connected with brothers he met throughout his fraternal journey.

John began his education in the Corps of Cadets at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. His work toward his degree was interrupted by four years of service in the U.S. Air Force Chaplain Section. He returned to complete his B.S. in Business Administration and then worked for Woodward and Lothrop, Inc. in Washington, D.C., where he programmed the Univac Mark I, the first commercial computer.

He returned to Virginia Tech to become one of the first members and teachers in their new Computer Science Department. During his stay there he served on President Johnson's Commission on the Use of Computers in Education. He left Virginia Tech to teach at Indiana University. While a faculty member in the Computer Science Department, working toward his Doctorate, John was given the opportunity to pledge the Indiana Beta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi.

He served the chapter for more than 20 years, as Faculty Advisor before and Chapter Advisor after his initiation. He also has served the National Fraternity as Director of Scholarship, as a member of the Commission on Ethics and is a member of the Order of the S.C. Retired from Indiana University and then from Stephen F. Austin State University, John lived in Galveston, Texas for the final years of his life, staying active in his church, by playing as an accomplished organist, playing some golf, and continuing to serve the Fraternity and the Foundation.

In the spring 2011 issue of The Shield we erroneously listed the passing of Antawn Brown Wabash '91. Having read that listing and wondering about their chapter brother, friends of Brother Brown tracked him down and discovered that he is, indeed, alive and well.

The spring 2011 issue also contained an obituary for Richard C. Hall Buffalo '57, with a first name incorrectly written as Robert. It was also brought to our attention that he passed away of prostate cancer, not pancreatic cancer.

We apologize for the confusion and error in both instances.

Gregory S. Bruce Texas Delta '88

Gregory "Greg" Shawn Bruce passed away on Sunday, May 22, 2011 after a courageous battle with brain cancer. He was a founding father of the Texas Delta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi at SMU, and he remained active in supporting both his Fraternity and university, including as president of the North Texas Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi. Greg was a driving force each year for the MT and founded the Men's Dinner of the Coterie. His verve and enthusiasm for SMU athletics, especially football, became legendary. He was an active supporter of The Mustang Club and a former member of the board of directors. He was known colloquially as the Mayor of the Boulevard for his constant presence along Bishop Boulevard, once football returned to SMU's campus. His cheerleading and flag-waving in the stands of Ford Stadium will be missed. His battle with cancer was heroic and hard fought, and through it all he kept his optimism, wit, and cheerful spirit. To his credit, many people who crossed his path never knew he was fighting for his life. Above all, he was a devoted husband and father, survived by his wife, Megan, and his daughter, Abby.

Edward Humbert Wedlake, a respected and beloved physician, passed away on April 11, 2011 at the age of 83. After receiving his medical degree from the prestigious Stritch School of Medicine at Loyola University in Chicago, Dr. Wedlake served as a Captain in the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1956-1959. After his service, he would eventually settle on the Monterey Peninsula, where he served as a Senior Attending Physician at Community Hospital from 1962-1998. He loved his local community, serving as a devoted volunteer for a number of worthy causes, and balanced his days with work service and a fine golf game. Preceded in death by his son, Ted, he is survived by his wife, Patricia, and two daughters. ■
